

Adrienne deWolfe is a modern day alchemist. She possesses the amazing ability to transform problems and obstacles into golden opportunities for personal and professional success. An electrifying, motivational entertainer, she challenges conventional thinking to awaken audiences to their unlimited potential.

Adrienne wasn't born with this unique talent, however. She developed it the hard way. After working as a publicist, and then as a highly successful author of five romance novels, she was struck with numerous physical ailments that prevented her from walking, typing or even reading. She began to lose faith in herself and her dreams, until she discovered Attitudinal Healing and Reiki, an ancient method of healing. Armed with the newfound understanding that she could transform her life by changing her beliefs, Adrienne set out to heal herself. These simple wellness techniques restored her health, awakened her intuition, and led her to the most profound discovery of all—human beings can actually harness the power of their minds to manifest their heart's desire in material form. With her new understanding, Adrienne was soon creating job opportunities she had once considered impossible, awards that her book editor claimed couldn't be won, and financial windfalls that exceeded her wildest expectations.

While Adrienne may have developed these amazing abilities the hard way, she's making it easy for people across the nation to uncover their own unlimited potential. She is currently touring nationally—a fresh voice in the human potential movement, speaking with humor, compassion and optimism about the challenges of our modern-day world. More importantly, she serves as a role model for those who doubt their ability to change, and a champion for those who are ready to live without limits.

Are you ready to go for the gold?
Then you're ready for Adrienne deWolfe!

Contact Adrienne deWolfe:
email: Adrienne@AdriennedeWolfe.com • web: www.AdriennedeWolfe.com